

Website Terms & Conditions / Privacy Policy

The Construction Users Round Table (CURT) is responsible for the content on the CURT web site (www.curt.org).

CURT takes the privacy of your personal information very seriously and will use your information only in accordance with the terms of this Privacy Policy. We will not sell or rent your personally identifiable information or a list of our customers to third parties.

However, as described in more detail below, there are limited circumstances in which some of your information will be shared with third parties, under strict limitations, so it is important for you to review this Privacy Policy. This Privacy Policy applies to all services that are hosted on the CURT web site.

Information Collection – CURT is the sole owner of the information collected on the CURT web site. CURT collects information from our users at several different points on our Web site.

Log Files – Like most standard Web site servers, CURT uses log files. This includes internet protocol (IP) addresses, browser type, internet service provider (ISP), referring/exit pages, platform type, date/time stamp, and number of clicks.

Registration – We request information from the user on our registration pages for membership meetings, workshops, conferences, online training and other CURT activities. A user must provide contact information (such as name, email, and address). This information is used to prepare for the event and to contact the user if we have trouble processing an order. Financial information (such as credit card information) is securely collected and used by our partner, Paypal – CURT does not retain credit card information provided by the user for online registrations and purchases.

Information Use – CURT's log files are used to analyze trends, administer the site, track users' movement in the aggregate and individually, and gather broad demographic information for aggregate use. IP addresses, etc. are not linked to personally identifiable information.

Cookies – A cookie is a piece of data stored on the user's computer tied to information about the user. We use session ID cookies only. Once users close the browser, the cookie simply terminates. By setting a cookie on our site, users will not have to log in with their password more than once, thereby saving time while on our site. If users reject the cookie, they may still use our site. The only drawback to this is that the user will be limited in some areas of our site. Some of our business partners use cookies on our site (for example, advertisers). However, we have no access to or control over these cookies, once we have given permission for them to set cookies for advertising.

Profile – CURT does not maintain profiles on individual users that detail their viewing preferences.

Third Party Advertising – The ads appearing on this Web site are delivered to all users. CURT does not use a third-party ad server.

Special Offers and Updates – CURT periodically sends information on meetings, workshops, CURT’s annual conference, and industry updates. Out of respect for the privacy of our users, we present the option to not receive these types of communications from CURT. Please see the Choice and Opt-Out sections of this policy.

Newsletter – CURT newsletters, the CURT Alert and Committee newsletters are sent on a periodic basis. Out of respect for the privacy of our users, we present the option to not receive these types of communications from CURT. Please see the Choice and Opt-Out sections of this policy.

Customer Service – We communicate with users on a regular basis to provide requested services. In regards to issues relating to their account, we reply via email or phone, in accordance with the user’s wishes.

Information Disclosure and Sharing – We occasionally share aggregated demographic information with our partners and advertisers. This is not linked to any personally identifiable information.

Choice/Opt-Out – Users who no longer wish to receive our newsletter and/or other communications may opt out of receiving these communications by editing their profile on the CURT website, or by replying to the email message with “unsubscribe” in the subject line of the email. Users may also email CURT at construction-users@curt.org or contact us by phone at 513-563-4131 to opt out of these communications.

Links – This Web site contains links to other sites. Please be aware that CURT is not responsible for the privacy practices of such other sites. We encourage our users to be aware when they leave our site and to read the privacy statements of each and every Web site that collects personally identifiable information. This privacy statement applies solely to information collect by this Web site.

Security – This Web site takes every precaution to protect our users’ information. Please note that through CURT’s partnership with PayPal, sensitive financial information (e.g., credit card numbers and expiration dates) related to online registrations is NEVER transmitted to CURT and is never held in our records.

We also do everything in our power to protect user information off-line. All of our users’ information is restricted in our offices. Only employees who need the information to perform a specific job are granted access to personally identifiable information. If users have any questions about the security at our Web site, users can send an email to info@curt.org.

Correcting/Updating/Deleting/Deactivating Personal Information – If a user’s personally identifiable information changes (such as zip code, phone, email or postal address), or if a user no longer desires our service, we provide a way to correct, update or delete/deactivate users’ personally identifiable information. The user can usually do this by editing their CURT website profile online.

Notification of Changes – Changes to our privacy policy will be posted to this Terms and Conditions statement, the home page, and other places we deem appropriate so our users are always aware of what information we collect, how we use it, and under what circumstances, if any, we disclose or share it.

Antitrust – The following guidelines apply to the conduct of meetings of the Construction Users Roundtable (CURT) as well as utilization of this website. This is not an exhaustive list of every possible subject to be avoided; in the event you have doubts about the propriety of any matter discussed on this website, please consult our Executive Vice President. Generally, antitrust laws proscribe unlawful combinations or agreements with competitors that are likely to injure competition. CURT seeks to avoid even the appearance of impropriety and this is the spirit in which these guidelines are written.

1. CURT will not discuss prices of goods or services of any particular company or companies.
2. CURT will not disparage the goods or services of any particular company or companies.
3. CURT will not recommend the selection of any particular company as a supplier.
4. CURT will not urge or counsel that any participating company engage in any concerted activity to accomplish any unlawful purpose, as for example, boycotting any company to take a desired action.
5. CURT will not discuss matters that may be trade secrets to any company.
6. CURT will not propose secret sessions after official meetings to discuss matters that cannot lawfully be discussed at official meetings.
7. CURT committees, task forces or other informal groups within CURT will not engage in publishing materials without the advance approval of the Board of Trustees or Executive Committee.
8. CURT seeks to educate member firms and facilitate communication on important issues in the construction industry so every member firm will be better informed and can make its own individual business decisions. CURT members are not required to adopt the CURT recommendations or policies.

Contact Information – If users have any questions or suggestions regarding our Terms and Conditions statement, please contact CURT at 4100 Executive Park Drive, Suite 210, Cincinnati, OH 45241, by phone at 513-563-4131, or by email at construction-users@curt.org.
